

Educated in Lesotho, Switzerland and South Africa, Mpho Ramosili is a high-calibre Marketing and Communications Strategist with extensive experience in public and commercial sectors, building reputations and brands. She has developed effective business strategies and is highly adept at developing and leveraging brands and digital marketing. She is currently Senior Manager: Marketing and Communications at the Agricultural Research Council.